

USER PERSONA

Dieter Rams Portfolio Website

Elena Rossi | UX/Product Design Student

DEMOGRAPHICS

Age	27 years old
Location	Brooklyn, NY
Occupation	MFA Student, UX/Product Design
Education	Pratt Institute (Master's in Design)

BIO

Elena is a thoughtful and design-conscious graduate student at Pratt Institute, specializing in user experience and product design. She discovered Dieter Rams through the Gary Hustwit documentary and became fascinated by how his design philosophy shaped contemporary technology design, particularly Apple's approach. As a digital native, Elena uses Figma and Notion daily for her design work and thesis research. She frequently visits museums and design exhibitions to deepen her understanding of design history and practice. Elena is passionate about connecting historical design movements to modern digital product design.

GOALS

- Research how Dieter Rams's design principles influenced Apple and modern tech design for her thesis
- Understand the breadth and evolution of Rams's work across different product categories
- Discover curated examples of his best work with detailed context and design analysis
- Access reliable, well-documented information about his design methodology and philosophy

FRUSTRATIONS & PAIN POINTS

- Many design history resources lack visual documentation and detailed product context
- Difficulty finding connections between historical design principles and contemporary products
- Scattered information across multiple sources makes comprehensive research time-consuming
- Limited high-quality images and detailed specifications for his various product designs

TECH PROFICIENCY

Daily Tools: Figma, Notion, Adobe Creative Suite

Comfort Level: High - proficient with design software, comfortable with web technologies

Browser: Chrome, Safari; regularly browses design blogs and online resources

FAVORITE BRANDS & INFLUENCES

Design Inspiration: Dieter Rams, Braun, Vitsoe, Apple, MUJI, Bauhaus, mid-century modernism

Design Resources: Design Observer, It's Nice That, Wallpaper*, Core77, museum exhibitions

"Good design is as little design as possible. I want to understand not just what I design, but why it matters."

PERSONALITY TRAITS

Analytical	[====-]
Detail-oriented	[====-]
Ambitious	[====-]
Creative	[=====]
Curious	[=====]
Methodical	[====-]